Sabaf's investments in research have led the company to realize very efficient burners, which exceed the standard required by the rules in force. If the European standard requires gas hobs to achieve 52% energy efficiency in order to obtain the approval, the latest Sabaf burners (for example Series 5 and Series 6) are able to guarantee 68% energy efficiency (16% more than the standard). This means that for cooking food or for boiling water it will take less time than before, with energy saving.
